Get an inside look at Michigan's real COVID-19 experience and future plans. The panelists will take a look back at the projections for the impact of the virus in the early days of the pandemic and how effective the responses were to flatten the curve. How have local public health department efforts been supported? What is working well? What might still need optimization? What are the next steps for the fall? The panelists also will look at changes made in the regulation of health plans – what to keep and for how long?

A Conversation with Health Plan Leaders

Moderator: Dominick Pallone, Executive Director, Michigan Association of Health Plans

Michael Genord, MD, President and CEO, Health Alliance Plan

Sean Kendall, CEO, MeridianHealth

James Forshee, MD, Chief Medical Officer, Priority Health

Dennis J. Mouras, CEO, UnitedHealthcare Community Plan, Inc.

This panel of Health Plan leaders will share their insights into how they have served Michigan members during this public health emergency and their continued responsiveness in this quickly-changing healthcare landscape. What has worked? What should the Plans keep doing? What has been the biggest obstacle faced by Health Plans and their members during the pandemic? How will Health Plans continue to deliver value to the healthcare industry and quality for their members as we hopefully start to move into a post-COVID world? Don't miss this critical discussion as the panelists share opportunities from lessons learned these past months.

Health Disparities: Lessons Learned through COVID-19

Moderator: Monica Trevino, MA, Director of Center for Social Enterprise, Michigan Public Health Institute

Denise Fair, MPH, FACHE, Chief Public Health Officer, Detroit Health Department (Invited)

C. Debra Furr-Holden, PhD, Associate Dean for Public Health Integration, Michigan State University and Director, Flint Center for Health Equity Solutions

Kimberlydawn Wisdom, MD, MS, Senior Vice President of Community Health & Equity and Chief Wellness and Diversity Officer Henry Ford Health System

Addressing health disparities is not a new issue. In 1984, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services released Health United States, 1983, a report on the major discrepancies that existed in America's minority populations when compared with the population as a whole.

The COVID-19 pandemic has turned a glaring spotlight on health disparities, lessons learned and the remaining work that still needs to be done. This panel will address opportunities for policymakers, health systems and health plans to improve programs that target social determinants, tackle prevention and improve access to care. A focused, cooperative effort can truly reduce health disparities and promote health equality and environmental justice.

Healthcare Delivery in the Post COVID-19 World: The Provider Perspective

Moderator: Scott Dzurka, Vice President, Public Sector Consultants

Joe Gorz, DO, Past President, Oakland County Osteopathic Medical Association

Felix M. Valbuena, Jr., MD, Chief Executive Officer, Community Health and Social Services (CHASS) Center, Inc.

Geneva Tatem, MD, Associate Division Head, Division of Pulmonary, Critical Care Medicine, Henry Ford Health System

There is no doubt this pandemic is a defining moment in health care. This panel of frontline providers will share their recent experiences and offer insight into how COVID-19 has changed health care now and for the future. They will address how health care organizations have implemented solutions that not only rapidly responded to the changing environment, but also will ensure long-term benefits for all stakeholders.
