9:00 a.m. Keynote Address: What's Your "And"?: A People-Centric Approach to Leadership in Healthcare
John Garrett

In a healthcare ecosystem shaped by innovation, regulation, and relentless pressure, leadership that values the human side of the workers has never been more essential. With his refreshing blend of corporate insight, comedic wit, and people-centric advocacy, John Garrett stands at the intersection of professionalism and passion—reshaping how we perceive culture, connection, and leadership across healthcare.

This one-of-a-kind keynote invites attendees to consider a powerful shift: from rigid professionalism to personal authenticity. Drawing on his own journey and years of research, John explores how health organizations—from executive teams to vendor partners and regulators—can foster trust, spark collaboration, and unlock engagement by embracing their "Ands": the outside-of-work passions that make us human.

Whether you lead a health plan, craft policy, drive innovation, or support the infrastructure of care, this keynote will inspire you to lead with curiosity, support your people holistically, and champion a more resilient, connected culture at organizations who value the worker as much as they value the work.

Clarence Peebles, Public Health Project Coordinator-SEMHAC
City of Detroit, Detroit Health Department

This session will start the conversation around the possibility of helping people heal HIV-related trauma through the lens of Spirituality. It’s meant to help people understand how their unhealed emotions rob them of the life that they truly want; by negatively influencing how they behave, the things they do and ultimately how they think. The presentation closes with tools to help people navigate their emotional landscape by journeying inwards and plugging in to their higher selves.

Concurrent Breakout Sessions

Concurrent Breakout #1: Mental Health Parity Outlook and Strategies for 2025

David Shillcutt, JD, Epstein Becker Green

Regulatory policy and enforcement are shifting rapidly in the Trump Administration, but the statutory requirements of the Mental Health Parity and Addiction Equity Act (MHPAEA) are unlikely to change under the current Congress. Access challenges also persist for consumers seeking mental health and substance use disorder (MH/SUD) services. What are the priorities and best practices that health plans should focus on for mental health parity compliance in 2025? This session will cover:

- What are the key MH/SUD access and coverage issues that regulators are seeking to redress through parity enforcement, and what should carriers be doing to evaluate “comparability and stringency” for their own plans?
- How are policy and enforcement evolving under the current Department of Labor leadership, and what are key trends among state Departments of Insurance?
- How can health plans stop playing catch-up and build a self-sustaining parity compliance program?

Concurrent Breakout #2: IRA, 340B and High Impact Drugs - Mitigating Strategies Across Lines of Business

Presenters:

Mina Allo, Managing Director, Avalere

Emily Donaldson, Principal, Avalere

Margaret Scott, Principal, Avalere

The Inflation Reduction Act has brought significant changes to the Medicare Part D and B space - including changes to Part D redesign, capping out of pocket for beneficiaries, and directly negotiating drugs with manufacturers. This, coupled with an increase in high impact medications, has resulted in increased pressure to plan sponsors and has had an indirect effect across other lines of business and other government programs like 340B. Manufacturer adjustments based on recent federal policies including the IRA are spilling into Medicaid, including pricing strategy and pipeline changes, prompting Medicaid agencies to adjust strategies and asking health plans to conform. How plans can create strategies to mitigate the growth in plan liability and high impact drugs, while remaining competitive, will be discussed during this session.

- Noon MAHP Annual Awards Luncheon
Michigan Ballroom, Lobby Level
Presentation of Pinnacle, Ellis J. Bonner, Eugene Farnum, Presidential Merit, Legislative, PAC and Golf Awards.

10:30 a.m.

General Session Panel: Michigan Managed Care: Shaping the Next 40 Years

MAHP's member health plans have made great strides and expanded managed care principles in Michigan's health care delivery system for four decades. What does the future hold for the next 40 years? Will the increased market share of self-insured lives drive narrower networks? Will future universal health care discussions involve competition and choice? Will government programs continue to accept, embrace, and advance managed care principles?
